Issued by the DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE. TRACTORS AND TRACTOR IMPLEMENTS.

Farmers who desire to purchase new tractors either by cash payment or on loan should lose no time in doing so. There may be a great delay in getting shipping space if tractors have to be imported, or in obtaining permits for manufacture if they have to be made in the United Kingdom. Provided definite orders are placed by farmers with agents before 31st August, and that particulars are at the same time furnished to the Department, steps will be taken to facilitate the due execution of orders. Similarly, with regard to tractor ploughs or other tillage implements used in conjunction with tractors, orders should be placed before the abovenamed date, and full particulars given to the Department.

Therefore order now for immediate delivery

ELECTION NOTICES. TO THE ELECTORS OF SOUTH DUBLIN.

As one of those who do not believe in the continuance of what is known as the Party truer, but what is really a true to maintain the divisions amongst us which are common to the Party spirit, I venture to offer myself as a Candidate for the representation of South Dublin in the Imperial Parliament Parliament.

I come before you on the simple issue of what, as I come before you on the simple issue of what, as a soldier, I consider to be the dominating question of all questions—namely, the speediest possible termination of the present War, consistent with our National honour and our obligations to Belgium, Russia, Italy, Rumania, Japan, Montenegro, America, Armenia, and France.

I further believe that a great deal of public money is being wasted owing to inefficient administration.

accurate. The Press could be made far greater use of, and its liberty to publish a certain class of news considerably widened and extended, without injuring our prospects of success in the campaign in the very slightest. In short, I consider that what is known as the Press Bureau should be at once abolished and the judgment of responsible Editors substituted for it.

I am very auxious about the condition of our Prisoners of War in Germany, boilt civil and military, and I consider that no effort should be relaxed which is calculated to deliver them at an early date from their present terrible plight.

anda laxed which is calculated to deliver them at an carly date from their present terrible plight, solid died which is calculated to deliver them at an early date from their present terrible plight, solid died which the surely Irishmen of all creeds and classes are interested in this important and humane subject? the sympathy and support we can give him, nay, but it is also his right.

The recent report on the campaign in Mesopoamia, with its shocking story of the neglect of or wounded, demands stern measures in dealing with the culprits, in order that such a state of things may never again be possible in either the Naval or the Military Service.

If elected to Parliament, the interests of my country in general, and South Dublin in particular, must, of course, be paramount, but I refuse to too the line to any combination of political luminaries.

the weight of the Commission's case against the Irish Government gets innumerable sugreyelation of the very dangerous revolutionary conspiracies with which it had to deal during 1915, and of the anxious demands of frontier defence which that year entailed. Nobody was in a better position than the Indian Government to appreciate its own limitations. Knowing that the despatch of expeditions to France, Egypt, East Africa, and elsewhere had tried the military capacity of the country to the utmost, knowing that it had to deal with utmost, knowing that it had to deal with the despatch of expeditions in a position before the world.

BABY WEEK IN DUBLIN. gardens was a collection of perambulatora which was quite remarkable. This keen interest who visit the exhibition will extend beyond them in its effects. Yesterday the useful demonstrations in cooking, choice of food, the drassing of infants, and instruction on home arrangements required to maintain their welfare were continued, and followed with an attention that augured well, while talks on the care and health of mother and child had their due place. It is not too much to say that the interest being shown in Baby Week is surprising in its extent, especially to those unfamiliar with the extent, especially to those unfamiliar with the appreciation which has been accorded the quiet work of societies and associations carried on with perseverance for some time past. In the evening the feature was a meeting of working "place-hunting" against the Nationalist Party. Count Plunkett, we know, tried to become Under-Secretary for Ireland, and now Mr. Ginnell is convicted of a similar yearning for the corrupt and sinister patronage of Dublin Castle. It is an interesting little episode; but the matter rests between the discredited leader and his followers, and does not seem to be worthy of our comment. We have mentioned it only because it raises, incidentally, a question of some public importance. How did Mr. Ginnell's application to the Department of Agriculture come into the possession of his political enemies? We do not blame the persons who, having got hold of it, used it against him—for the temptation was irresistible of the state of the st soldiers, and to secure that no opportunity shall be left for any further invitation of disaster by unimaginative bureaucrats.

Lord Hardinge's detailed exposition of India's stupendous military effort is extremely interesting, and the occasion which his defence provided for it is welcome. It is not really relevant, however, to the issues who, having got hold of it, used it against him—for the temptation was irresistible and he deserved little mercy at their hands—but how did they get hold of it? We had always believed that our public departments respect most carefully, in all private matters, the confidence of their issues who, having got hold of it, used it against him—for the temptation was irresistible and he deserved little mercy at their displayed their taste in decoration, concluded the proceedings.

DR. ASHE.

Mr. Travers Hartley Falkiner has addressed a letter to Dr. James S. Ashe, in connection with the coming election for South Dublin, of the course of his communication, Mr. Falkiner says that he and those who think with him fefuse to accept the nominee of Mr. John Redmond to what has always been a Unionist seat. Further, although he (Mr. Falkiner) has gersonally never assented to the party truce, he is aware that many Unionists in the constituency handed over to Sir Horace Plunkett as a gift. Mr. Falkiner would sooner Mr. Hearn or Sir John O'Connell were elected, on the ground that an avowed opponent, whose views are unmistakable, is to be preferred to an administrator, however eminent, whose views on important questions seem to be colourless. He adds that in the meantime, perhaps, it is desirable for him to reprint his address, and, in doing so, he desires to remind his fellow countrymen that our soldiers are fighting for our liberties on the battlefields of France, and he is curious to know what is to be the attitude of the delegates to the coming Convention with regard to Ireland's future part in the war. They will surely not omit to tell this. "It is of more importance than any Parliament."

of State in an official telegram from the Government of India of the oth October, and, by reason of its great importance, as bearing upon the responsibility for the advance to Bagdad, I propose to read an extract to your lordships, since it does not appear in the report. The Government of India telegraphed as follows:—
"In these views we concur, and suggest that, as the Indian troops are reported to have participated with credit in the recent fighting, the present moment, if there should be any intention of moving Indian troops from France before the winter sets in, would be opportune for doing so. In view of German activities in Persia, increasing pressure on Afghanistan, and the aspect in the Balkans and Dardanelles, we bold that the capture of Bagdad would have such an effect in the Near East, and offers such important political and strategic advantages, as to justify the movement. But to do this, at least an additional Division would be required. Otherwise we do not propose to allow him to go beyond Kut el Amara."

On the same date I sent a private telegram to the Secretary of State, in amplification of my official message, and, as only the first half of it has been quoted in the report, I venture to read the remainder, of which your lordships will be able to appreciate the significance, especially in regard to the concluding sentence. It is ECKFORD. Yesterday the remains of Mr. Andrew Laid-ros of the seen quoted in the report, I venture to read the remainder, of which your lordships will be able to appreciate the significance, especially in regard to the concluding sentence. It runs as follows:—

"On the other hand, from a political point of view, the capture of Bagdad would create an immense impression in the Middle East, and would counterset the unfortunate impression created by the recent want of auccess in the Dardanelles. It would also isolate the German parties in Persia, probably produce a pacificatory effect in that country, and frustrate the German plan of raising the tribes. While the impression throughout Arabia would be striking, in India the effect would undoubtedly be good. These are considerations to which I attack great importance, but put them forward to be weighed by you and His Majesty's Government, for I fully realise that it is for His Majesty's Government, for I fully realise that it is for His Majesty's Government to decide where and how our forces can be used with the best possible effect."

This telegram was followed by a private telegram on the 7th, the following day, to the effect that Sir Beauchamp Duff shared the above views.

On the same day General Nixon telegraphed to the Secretary of State, and repeated bis telegram to the Chief of the General Staff in India, to the eacet that he was confident that he could defeat the Turks and occupy Bagdad without any addition to his actual force. He added, however, that in the event of the Turks sending reinforcements and making an effort to recapture Bagdad, he would require one division and one regiment of British cavalry, in addition to his present force, to watch the Tigris and Euphrates lines, and to defeat the enemy. Turks at Bagdad in 1916, and to the fact that it does not uppear to have been transmitted to General Nixon. The intention of this telegram was to give me private information of the contents of a report of the combined staff, showing various considerations and possibilities in connection with the proposed advance upon Bagdad. This private telegram was communicated to the Commander-in-Chief, my military adviser, who assisted me to draw up my reply. It was, of course, within his discretion to have imparted this information to General Nixon. But, if the warning had been of such serious import as is implied in the report, it ought clearly to have been conveyed officially by the General Staff in London, from whom it originated, to the Army Department or the originated, the General Staff in London, from whom it originated, to the Army Department or the originated, to the Army Department or the originated of the provided and unexampled staff, the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the Gommission have given sufficient prominence to the unprecedented and unexampled the war, and to the generosity of her contributions of every kind,

The Medical Arrangements.

Turning now to the question of medical arrangements in Mesopotamia, it must be frankly and regretfully admitted that, after the battle of Ctesiphon and during the retirement to Kut and in later operations, serious shortcomings in the provision made by the medical services became apparent, and it cannot be denied that the wounded coming down the river suffered terrible hardships and preparity. The story of their sufferings is gnation that the revelation of these sufferings as created, and my sympathy with the has created, and my sympathy sufferers and their relations is deeper was being made.

THE DUFF-COWPER TELEGRAM. THE DUFF-COWPER TELEGRAM.

The telegram from General Duff to General Cowper, discussed in the report, has excited some public attention. It appears that I had taken exception to the tone, but not to the aubstance, of a telegram from General Nixon, that asked the Commander-in-Chief to telegraph to him in a private and friendly way on the subject. This telegram to General Nixon elicited the fact that the message to which I had taken exception was sent by General Cowper under General Nixon's name, without his knowledge. This provoked Sir Beauchamp Duff's sharply-worded telegram to General Cowper, of which I do not remember ever to have seen-the text before its publication in the Commission's report. It is not a telegram that I would either have instigated or sent.

THE VICEROY'S EXECUTIVE COUNCIL As regards the question of the Viceroy's secutive Council, whose functions were, in the opinion of the Commission, to a certain extent abrogated by the fact that many questions relating to the prosecution of the campaign were decided by the Viceroy and the Commander-in-Chief, without reference to them, your lordships may possibly be aware that, according to Section 2 of paragraph 39 of the Government of India Act, the Governor-General and one member of the Council may exercise all the functions of Governor-General in Council. Consequently, in questions affecting the Army, and in purely military matters, there was nothing unconstitutional in the procedure followed. The same system was followed in dealing with matters belonging to other Government departments. I am not here to defend a system which I found in force on my arrival in India. But if it be considered to be in contravention of the intentions of the Act of Parliament, it should not be difficult for the Secretary of State or His Majesty's Government to tighten up the procedure by a modification of the rules of business.

risers considered to be safe. In the light of after events, I recognise that possibly all ordinary financial considerations ought to have been sacrificed, if the Secretary of State and the India Council, who control expenditure, would have agreed. But I would point out that the Commission admit that they have no proof that any urgent military demand was refused. The full telegraphic correspondence shows that the Government of India were strongly opposed to an advance upon Bagdad without reinfercements. It may be contended that we ought to have maintained our veto, but I would ask your fordships to weigh carefully, whether in view of the cobvious political advantages and of the expediency of the capture of Bagdad, to which we were fully alive, in view of the strong pressure from home, and of the unanimous military epinion in favour of it, we would have been justified in maintaining an uncompromising attitude. The inadequacy of the river transport was only revealed when it was too late to make it good, although everything that was possible was done to remedy it. The local

Keane, R. Lase Joyat, J.P., Thomas A. O'Gorman, J.P.

Mr. Justice Pim, having congratulated the Grand Jury on the promising condition of the crops in the county, said that ten bills would be sent up to them, and none of them would give them any trouble. They were the ordinary crimes that, perhaps with one or two exceptions, they would find in every county, and as far as they were concerned he had little to say. There was a little increase in indictable crime of eight. Last year the number was 29, and at this Assise it is 57. They were none of them of importance, and otherwise the county was very much as it was this time last year, from the point of view of crime. He was glad to see considerable decrease in the minor offences, particularly in the offence of drunkenness, of almost three hundred.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

On Saturday last an impressive Memorial Service was held in the Chapel of Trimity College, Dublin, for those members of the College who have fallen in the present war. In a characteristically eloquent address Sir James H. Campbell, Bart., Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, and Visitor of the University, paid generous tribute to the men of Trinity who have made the great sacrifice; and the Lord Chief Justice utilised the eccasion to make an appeal to all classes of Irishmen for toleration and mutual forbearance, in view of the important negotiations that are impending.

It is certain that, after the conclusion of the war, there must be erected, somehow and some-

MARKETS INCLINED TO BE BRISK.
BREWERIES AND DISTILLERIES, DUNLOPS AND TEXTILES WANTED.

There was an improved volume of dealing on 'Change to-day, as if orders had to some extent accumulated over the Bank holiday. The prospect of State control and purchase of the broweries and distilleries did not disturb the equilibrium of the market, as it goes without saying an equitable and just basis of valuation will be arrived at which should not compromise the shareholders' interests in the leading concerns. The tone of the market to-day was configmatory of this view. Special strength was shown for all Dunlop issues, and English Sewing Cottons were better. The Funds were by no means busy, but all the changes, which were limited, favoured holders. Consols rose 1, Irish Land 3 p.c. 1, and India 3½ p.c. 1, War Loan 5 p.c. was steady. Among Banking securities, Nationals fell 1, Munsters 1, and Hibarnians 1/2.

Breweries and Distilleries benefited by existing rumours and statements of State control and purchase. Guimess Ord. were again supported at 24½, while the Pref. were ineffectually bid for, and probably might be called 1/2 higher at 10½ to 11. Dublin Distillers Ord. Toose 4½d. to 24s.24s. 1½d., and the Debs. 1½ to 70, while the Pref. fell 6d. to 79s. 6d.

Marconi Shares failed to quote, but the tone of the market was quite satisfactory on London advices. The "Marine" Shares closed firm. The only change in Home Rails was a rise of 1/2 to 86 in Great Northern Ord. Stock.

Tramways displayed a satisfactory tendency, judging by the limited dealing registered. Dublin United Pref. rose 1/2 to 10/16, and Provincial Ord. 6d. to 19s. 6d.

THE IRISH TIMES. FINANCIAL NEWS LONDON STOCK MARKETS

THE RUSSIAN VICTORY. MONETARY INFLUENCES. (FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT)

LONDON, TURSDAY.

The Stock Exchange re-opened after its three-day recess in excellent spirits. There was quite a good accumulation of business, and both the Russian victory and to-day's big disbursaments in the Money market were calculated to stimulate investment. The opening was at higher levels in most departments, and in the afternoon the news of the further Russian successes carried quotations to the best of the day, the close being very cheerful. The gilt-edged section showed to marked advantage under brisk support. The 5 p.c. War Loan rose is to 94½ and the 4½ p.c. Loan at to 94½, while the 5½ p.c. Loan and Consols each advanced ½ to 87½ and 55 respectively. Among miscellaneous gilt-edged issues the tone was firm, despite the rise in Treasury bill rates. Many Colonial Loans were marked ex interest. Indian Government issues were brisk, the Threas around 56 and the 3½ p.c.'s around 66. The 3 p.c. Irish Land Loan closed a shade under 59, but the 2½ p.c. Loan was firm at 54½.

Foreigners were spotty, but cheerful. In this department, as among Home Government issues, many securities were marked ex the tenfent of the day the adverse exchange having no depressing effect, and the subject of the day the adverse exchange having no depressing effect, and the subject of the day the adverse exchange having no depressing effect, and the subject of the day the account of the day the subject of the day, the close being very cheerful. In this department, as among Home Government issues, many securities were marked ex the half-yearly interest. Russians were on the firm side, the adverse exchange having no depressing effect, and the subject of the day the department and the subject of the subje

RUSSIAN BONDS FIRM.

Foreigners were spotty, but cheerful. In this department, as among Home Government issues, many securities were marked ex the half-yearly interest. Russians were on the firm side, the adverse exchange having no depressing effect, while, on the other hand, the good war news stimulated the undertone. Russian Fours were unchanged, after allowing for the interest deduction. The Fives were firm at 75. Greek Rentes rose 1. Japanese issues were quietly firm. Among enemy descriptions, Hungarian Rentes fell ½. Egyptians were on the firm side, and the Pref. was marked up a point to 72. Peruvisans were unchanged. Brazilians were supported, and the Funding Fives were over 80 most of the day.

HOME RAILS SUPPORTED.

Home Rails met good support, and quotations.

HOME RAILS SUPPORTED.

Home Rails met good support, and quotations were disposed to harden in a fairly general manner. Among Trunk and Trade Stocks there were numerous advances of ½ to ½. Among Passenger Stocks there was renewed liquidation of Brighton Def. at the outset, but the Stock subsequently rallied, and on balance showed no net change at 56½.

AMERICANS LOWER. AMERICANS LOWER.

Americans opened lower on parity, and quota-tions proved lacking in rallying power, local business being practically at a standstill. Wabash Pref. gave way 2 to 51. CANADIANS AND MEXICANS QUIET. CANADIANS AND MEXICANS QUIET.

Canadian Pacifics, moving with Americans, lost ½ at 177½. The May revenue statement shows an increase of 1,885,000 dollars in gross revenue and a gain of only 180,000 dollars in net profits. Grand Trunk Guaranteed Fours eased ½ to 57. Mexican Rails marked time. Several Argentine Rails worked forward ½ to ½, despite doubts regarding to-morrow's traffics. Leopoldinas, in the Brazilian group, improved ½ to 38.

INDUSTRIALS FAIRLY GOOD. Among Miscellaneous and Industrial securities trading was not active, but there were some good features. Hudson's Bays, though firm, were no higher to quote at 74 on the good quarterly land, sales. Other Land Shares were steady. Marcon's kept around 3-h. In the Supply section, Harrods were offered back 1/2 to 24. There was some renewed spotty strength in Breweries, Alisopp Pref. spurting 3 to 14. The Ord. did not vary. Guinceas Pref., however, lost a point. Among Armaments, National Explosives picked up 6d. Armstrongs, at 40°, were another 6d. up, and Nobels advanced 1/2 to 2/4. Vickers lost the turn, and J. Brown Ord., at 35/6, was rather weaker. In the Tyre group, Dunlops rebounded 1/2 to 3-h. Parent issues were about unchanged. Shipping securities remained active, but net changes were unimportant. Khedival Mails were finally easier at 38/6, but Cunards were sported up to 83/2, white Boyal Mails were good around 1191, and P. and O. Def. around 3221.

MINING MARKET FIRM.

There was a moderate volume of business among Mines, and a firm ione prodominated. Kaffirs showed a harder disposition in most directions, and chartereds were good in the Rhodesian market before Thursday's meeting. Diamonds possessed a good undertone, but prices did not vary much. Base metal shares were also merely steady at around recent levels in a majority of cases. There was no change in the price of copper, but it nrese 10/per ton. A good advance was recorded in Russian shares during the first part of the day: the close, however, was below the best.

RUBBER MARKET RECOVERS.

Rnoouraged by the recovery in the commodity at 47½. Shells closed at 96/10½, ex the rights attaching to the pext issue, valued around 26/. While the period of the Russian group was quietly firm. Mexican issues were lightly supported.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE,

Growing crops everywhere continue to show great promise for a luxuisint harvest, under ampricious climatic conditions. The bulk of the hay crop, indeed, has already been practically accured in grand case and needows have turned with the with secard to hay is considered. With the with the second structure of the moment, an unrestful disposition, amongst growers. With regard to grain markets, the seneral situation remains much as before, there being no now aspect nor any increased offerings in any position, and quotations of the Royal Commission on Supplies, although not openly published, govern on much the same basis as before. Locally there are no Commission offers on wheat to, deal with, but we understand that prices for white qualities figure somewhere around 42/r per barrel. Flour has become a much quieter trade, but remains firm. La Plata maise, on passage for Dubin, is now officing at 78/r per quarter, excally, when arrived. There is practically nothing featuring in Irish grain, and the little doing appears to be confined to black oats, prices for which are from 37/6 to 38/6 per barrel spot, all charges inclusive. Our Exchange today was of the same thinly attended and file charucter as of list.

WALPOLES' ROYAL The Newest in Bath Towels

> The many sales of these Bath Towels and Sheets since their introduction a week or so ago by Walpoles is a very gratifying appreciation of the combination of the artistic with the serviceable. They really cannot fail to delight one's taste, for their

are most decidedly effective and artistic.

The quality, of course, is the best. It is of the finest, with a short fast pile that not only ensures quick drying, but lasting wear. The Towels are without doubt the best value one can obtain. Bath Towels, size 27x54 ins., 4/3 each
